

To whom this may concern, I travel quite a bit and enjoy my XM sat radio which comes in handy with weather and traffic. If I wish to pay for this service it should be of no concern to anyone other than myself. Local AM/FM stations play the same old music along with the childish commercials. I enjoy the variety of listening to the major news stations and Bloomberg. You would think that the FCC has better things to do than harass XM.